Choosing a new .GOV.UK domain name?

Central government, to Parish councils we can help you choose and register your new domain name.

Over the last ten years we have successfully assisted in the application for, and registration, of many new gov.uk domain names. The process is not short or easy. It can take from weeks to several months depending on how quickly the naming committee agree the application. If the application is written well and submitted correctly then this will help speed the process through.

If you are considering a new gov.uk domain ensure you read the eligibility prior to making any decisions here:
