How to transfer a .GOV.UK domain to us

Transferring a domain name, whether it is a .com or .gov.uk or ac.uk, need not mean any services stop working: there should be NO downtime.

We provide all the necessary information to ensure your DNS and/or hosting and email are setup PRIOR to transfer which means your related online services (websites/emails/databases) stay live. Also, we make it easy for you as we provide ALL you will require to move your domain, from the initial account setup to the documentation required by JISC to confirm the transfer from another registrar to us.

If you need further details or have a question contact us now: <https://seiretto.co.uk/contactus/>

IoT is making networks less secure

IoT: Internet of Things is making home, and in many cases work, networks less secure. As you take home or to work (or both) your shiny new gadget it is likely to create a gaping hole in your network security. Such gadgets can range from a TV, an Internet camera, or a fridge, etc.

Most people connect these all with well-meaning initial intentions such as:

I will change the admin password

I will ensure its os is kept uptodate

but how many of us actually do the latter?

Automated cars are coming. Will they transform our lives?

We are only a few years away from fully autonomous vehicles.

RISKY: much like website-hacks in the past decade, many will fall foul from exploits. However many see them as an essential progression of our transport modes:
